Book for the Summer

Introduce your baby to play with this black-and-white book, designed to support visual development from birth. Talk about familiar toys such as a teddy, ball, and car. Talk about the pictures together and enjoy the touch-and-feel surprise on the last page for extra sensory fun. Use words like soft, shiny and touch.

In association with Dolly

Imagination
Library!

Make your own sensory basket

Create a sensory basket with bells, crinkle toys, or small shakers. Use words like: "Look! shake and crinkle!"

Sound walk

Take your baby for a walk in the park. Point out and name what you see and hear: "Look, birds! Listen to the a dog barking and children playing!" Let your baby touch the grass or leaves, feel the breeze, and watch the movement around them
